

Performing operations using datetime module

Write a Python program that demonstrates various operations that can be performed using the datetime module, including creating datetime, date, and time objects, parsing strings to create datetime objects, formatting datetime objects as strings, calculating differences between dates, and adding timedeltas to datetime objects.

Write the code in any of the installed editor like PyCharm, Thony, VS Code etc.

Copy the code in a document, save it and upload.